U. S. Delegates To Monetary Parley Named

Wagner, Spence, Wolcott
Are Chosen by Congress.
Vandenberg May Attend

By Tom Twitty

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democrat, of New York, and Representatives Brent Spence, Democrat, of Kentucky, and Jesse P. Wolcott, Republican, of Michigan, have been selected as American delegates to the United Nation's monetary conference to open July 1 at Bretton Woods, N. H., it was learned tonight.

Designation of a Republican Senator to complete the Congressional delegation, however, has struck a snag, it was revealed, holding up the official announcement of the entire United States roster, which will be headed by Henry Morgenthau jr., Secretary of the Treasury, and will include a host of other ranking officials from other executive agencies.

It was reported that the Republican Senatorial choice lay between Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, and Charles W. Tobey, of New Hampshire.

The bi-partisan Congressional representation plan was announced earlier today by President Roosevelt at his press conference without any mention of names.

Senator Wagner is chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee; Representative Spence, chairman of the similar committee in the House, and Representative Wolcott, a ranking Republican member of the House group.

Meanwhile, it was learned, the press relations for the conference, to be attended by representatives of forty-one nations, have become snarled in a manner suggestive of the Hot Springs, Va., food conference of last year. The Treasury press relations section, which expected to facilitate news coverage of the conference, has protested to Secretary Morgenthau over plans made by the State Department press section.

The Bretton Woods Hotel has only 375 rooms, and the nearest other accommodations are three and a half and six miles distant, respectively. The State Department has planned facilities for the three major press wire services at Bretton Woods, leaving the rest of the press representatives to fend for themselves.

The two principal items to come before the conference are the Treasury's proposed world currency stabilization fund and a world bank proposal. The Foreign Exchange Committee of the American Bankers Association is opposed to the world bank on the ground that it would be in direct conflict with commercial banks. Opposition from American bankers is not so strong against the stabilization fund, it was said, although some A. B. A. members believe that utilization of the existing mechanics of the present bank for international settlements would accomplish the same purpose without a separate fund organization.
